

America's Boating Course offered by the United States Power Squadrons

Do these pictures remind you of someone you know or a situation you may have heard about? Chances are that none of these folks have heard about the ABC course offered by the United States Power Squadrons. Our classes are designed to help the new boater understand what boating is all about and also to help anyone interested become a better and safer boater. The San Joaquin Delta Power Squadron, a locally active squadron, holds classes twice a year, spring and fall, and does just that. Our students learn a variety of subjects including rules of safe navigation, safety equipment, trailering, knot tying, anchoring, exposure to electronics, emergency procedures, required equipment and lights, and how to handle their boat just to name a few. An introductory session on charting is also offered for interested students. This course also meets the requirements of the California Boat Operators Certificate.

Interested individuals may contact our squadron through the various links on this website. As a side note, completion of this course is a requirement for membership in our squadron.

Boat safe and have a great day.
